GRADE THREE SOCIAL STUDIES I can

- I can summarize elements that describe my community and beyond.
- I can summarize the history of my local government.
- I can describe my local government functions and how it serves the communities' citizens.
- I can use a map to find places in my community and region.
- I can compare human and physical characteristics of places.
- I can compare various regions according to their characteristics.
- I can compare different land features (volcanoes, mountains, valleys) by using models, pictures, diagrams and maps.
- I can explain how location impacts supply and demand.
- I can explain how location and natural resources impact their economy.
- I can explain why people become entrepreneurs.
- I can recognize entrepreneurs in my state.
- I can compare languages, foods and traditions of diverse groups in my community and region.
- I can describe how different groups show artistic expression in my community and region.
- I can use non-fiction text to explore how cultures share and borrow from each other.
- I can explain past and current events in my community and region.

- I can analyze the impact of important historical figures (past and present) in my community and region.
- I can describe the ideas important to my community and region.
- I can read historical narratives to learn about changes over time.
- I can notice different points of view when reading historical narrative.
- I can describe how people adapt, change, and protect the environment to meet their need.
- I can describe how citizens take care of the community's natural environment.